NOTE FROM THE LICENSEE

There are places you live, and then there are places that become part of who you are. For me and my family, Hermanus and the Whale Coast have become exactly that – home.

This year marks a very special milestone: our 10-year anniversary with Seeff Hermanus. Ten years since I took over the Seeff Hermanus licence in August 2016, and ten years of building a business, raising a family, forming lifelong friendships and, most importantly, living the Hermanus dream.

When I look back over the past decade, I feel incredibly proud of what we have built at Seeff Hermanus. The sales, milestones, awards and growth of the business all mean a great deal to me. They represent years of hard work, the dedication of an exceptional team and, above all, the trust our clients and community have placed in us.

When I think about these ten years, I realise that the story is about much more than business. It is about a way of life.

It might be sitting on my boat, waiting patiently for crayfish, with the mountains stretching along the coastline behind me and the ocean all around. Or standing around the braai at home, listening to friends laughing, smelling the ocean in the air and looking up at those magnificent mountains.

Every now and then, I simply stop, take it all in and think: this is the Hermanus dream.

I love the lifestyle here. A game of padel with friends. A good sushi lunch while watching whales breach in Walker Bay. An afternoon exploring one of the incredible wine farms in the Hemel-en-Aarde Valley. And, if there's a good slice of carrot cake involved somewhere along the way, even better!

What makes this place truly special is that you don't have to go searching for the extraordinary – it is woven into everyday life here.

My family has been an enormous part of this journey. Anel and I have had the privilege of watching our two girls grow up here – one still at primary school and the other now studying in Potchefstroom.

Watching them grow up in Hermanus has made me appreciate even more what this community offers our children: freedom, friendships, wonderful schools, beautiful surroundings and the opportunity to grow up close to nature.

And then there are the people. Colleagues have become friends. Clients have become friends. And some friendships have become family. That sense of community and belonging is something no sales figure, award or business achievement can ever measure.

There are still mornings when I drive to work, look around me and think how fortunate I am. There are evenings when Anel and I sit outside, look towards the mountains, hear the ocean and feel an enormous sense of gratitude for the life we have

Ten years ago, I came to Hermanus because of an opportunity. I could never have imagined where that opportunity would lead. Yes, it gave me the chance to build and grow Seeff Hermanus and to work alongside an incredible team. But it also gave my family and me something far more valuable. It gave us a home. It gave us a community. It gave us lifelong friendships. It gave our children a wonderful place to grow up.

It has been an incredible journey and as we celebrate the 10-year anniversary of Seeff Hermanus under our leadership, I am enormously grateful to every member of our team, every client who trusted us, every friend who supported us and this remarkable community that welcomed my family and me.

Warm regards,

Paul Kruger

10 YEARS OF PROPERTY, PEOPLE AND PURPOSE

ON 1 AUGUST 2016, PAUL KRUGER EMBARKED ON A JOURNEY THAT WOULD BECOME ABOUT FAR MORE THAN SELLING PROPERTY. HE REFLECTS ON A DECADE WITH THE SEEFF BRAND, THE REMARKABLE GROWTH OF SEEFF HERMANUS, AND THE PEOPLE WHO MADE IT POSSIBLE.

In 2016, Paul Kruger was presented with the opportunity to acquire one of the flagship licences within the Seeff Property Group: Seeff Hermanus. For Paul, who already had many years of experience within the Seeff brand and the property industry, the opportunity represented both an exciting challenge and an enormous responsibility.

BUILDING ON A PROUD LEGACY

Seeff already had a strong and respected presence in Hermanus. The objective was therefore never simply to change what existed, but to build on that foundation and take the business into its next chapter.

Together with an exceptional management team, property practitioners, rental specialists and support staff, Paul set about strengthening every part of the business.

Over the following decade, Seeff Hermanus grew its sales, rental portfolio and overall market presence to new heights, while continually investing in its people, technology, marketing and client service.

One of the significant developments during this period was the establishment and expansion of the Seeff Hermanus Holiday Rentals division.

What started as a new business opportunity has grown into one of the largest holiday rental operations in the Hermanus area, helping property owners unlock the potential of their homes while welcoming visitors from across South Africa and abroad to this extraordinary part of the Western Cape.

The long-term rental division has similarly developed into a cornerstone of the business. According to PayProp statistics, Seeff Hermanus has achieved the highest rental market share in the local market – an achievement that reflects years of consistent service, relationship building and trust between landlords, tenants and the Seeff team.

A DECADE OF RECOGNITION

Success, however, has never been measured only in transactions. Over the past ten years, Seeff Hermanus and its team have received numerous accolades within the Seeff Property Group, recognising achievements across sales, rentals, market share, marketing, leadership and overall business performance. These include Licensee of the Year, Highest Market Share and Best Rental Agency, among many other awards achieved by the office and its people.

Paul has also been honoured with the prestigious Chairman's Award as well as recognition as a Brand Ambassador – accolades that carry special significance after his many years of association with the Seeff brand.

For Paul, however, these awards belong as much to the people around him as they do to any individual.

"No business achieves anything meaningful because of one person. Whatever we have accomplished over the past ten years is the result of an extraordinary group of people who believed in what we were building and who continue to give their best to our clients and our community every day."

RECORD-BREAKING PROPERTY TRANSACTIONS

The decade has also produced some extraordinary milestones in the Hermanus property market. Seeff Hermanus has been involved in numerous high-value and record-breaking transactions across the region, including a remarkable R105 million sale in Voëlklop.

While headline transactions attract attention, Paul believes the real measure of a property business lies in the thousands of individual journeys behind the numbers. Every property represents something different to its owner. It may be a young family's first home, a retirement dream, an investment property, a holiday home overlooking Walker Bay, or the sale of a family property filled with decades of memories.

INDUSTRY NEWS

That understanding has remained central to the philosophy of Seeff Hermanus. Property is ultimately about people.

MORE THAN A PROPERTY BUSINESS

An equally important part of the Seeff Hermanus story has been its relationship with the broader community.

Over the past decade, the business and its team have actively supported local schools, old-age homes, welfare organisations, sporting initiatives and numerous community projects.

For Paul, being a leading business in a town such as Hermanus brings with it a responsibility to contribute to the community that supports that business.

The Seeff brand may be visible on property boards throughout the area, but Paul believes its most meaningful presence is often found away from property transactions – in schools, charities, community initiatives and the everyday lives of the people of the Overberg.

A PLACE THAT BECAME HOME

Looking back, Paul says the greatest reward of the move to Hermanus cannot be measured on a sales report or an awards stage.

It is what Hermanus has given his family.

“The last ten years have been an overwhelmingly positive experience for me and my family. We came here because of a business opportunity, but Hermanus became our home.”

Raising children in a town with excellent schools, surrounded by mountains, ocean and nature, and within a community where families can enjoy an exceptional quality of life has made the decision to move to Hermanus particularly rewarding.

And then there are the friendships.

“Some of the greatest gifts of the past ten years have been the friendships we have made. Clients became friends, colleagues became extended family, and Hermanus became far more than the place where we work. It became the place where we belong.”

THE POWER OF A SUPER BRAND

After ten years as licensee of Seeff Hermanus and an even longer association with Seeff – Paul remains deeply appreciative of what the brand has meant to his career.

Founded on relationships, trust and an entrepreneurial culture, Seeff has provided the platform from which local business owners and property professionals can build businesses deeply connected to their communities.

Paul describes Seeff simply as a “SUPER BRAND”.

It is a brand that has allowed him to grow professionally, build businesses, develop people and participate in an industry that continues to evolve at an extraordinary pace.

Yet, after a decade, one lesson stands above the rest: brands create opportunities, but people create businesses.

The success of Seeff Hermanus belongs to its management team, property practitioners, rental and holiday rental teams, administrative staff, clients, landlords, tenants, buyers, sellers, suppliers, community partners and the countless people who have supported the business over the past decade.

THE NEXT CHAPTER

Ten years is an important milestone, but it is not the finishing line.

The property industry is changing rapidly. Technology, artificial intelligence, data and changing consumer expectations are reshaping how people buy, sell, rent, invest in and manage property.

For Seeff Hermanus, the next decade will therefore be about combining innovation with something that technology can never replace: trusted human relationships.

Paul believes the opportunity ahead is every bit as exciting as the one he saw when he arrived in Hermanus in August 2016.

"I am incredibly grateful for the past ten years to Seeff, to our extraordinary team, to our clients, to the Hermanus community and, especially, to my family for sharing this journey with me."

"If I look back at what we have achieved together, I feel proud. But when I look forward at what is still possible, I am even more excited."

JOURNEY BACK IN TIME...

HERMANUS IS WELL KNOWN FOR ITS INCREDIBLE COASTAL LIFESTYLE, INVESTMENT PROPERTY OPPORTUNITIES, STUNNING VIEWS, AND WHALES...
BUT DID YOU KNOW SHEEP PLAYED A KEY ROLE IN ESTABLISHING THIS TOWN INTO WHAT IT IS TODAY?

Archaeological finds at Klipgat Cave remind us that people lived here thousands of years ago. The Middle Stone Age left its mark, and later the Khoisan added their own traces along the coast.

The town itself began to take shape in the 1800s. In 1815, Hermanus Pieters, a Dutch teacher, brought his sheep to graze near a freshwater spring close to Walker Bay. That spring became known as Hermanus Pieters se Fonteyn, and before long fishermen and farmers settled nearby. The village that grew was called Hermanuspietersfontein – a name so long that by 1902 postal workers had shortened it to Hermanus.

By the 1920s, visitors were already arriving for the clean air and seaside charm. In the 1940s Hermanus was seen as a health retreat, with hotels opening up to meet demand. Whale watching started becoming an attraction in the 1950s, and Fernkloof Nature Reserve was established in 1960 to protect the fynbos.

By the 1980s and 1990s, whales had become the town's calling card, a reputation that still holds today.

Fast forward to today and Hermanus is known for blending history, nature, and lifestyle. People wander through the Piet se Bos Milkwood Forest, walk the 12 kilometre Cliff Path, or spend time at Fick's Pools, a tidal pool that's been around for more than a century and is now a favourite spot for tapas and wine.

The Hemel en Aarde Valley has built a reputation for its wines – pinot noir, chardonnay and syrah. Creation Wines is one of the highlights, offering pairings that turn a tasting into a full experience.

Back in town, the cultural scene is lively. Galleries, crafts, street art, and small studios sit between cafés and antique shops. The Old Harbour Museum tells the story of the fishing community, while the Whale Museum celebrates the giants of the bay.

Food is another draw. Fresh seafood at the harbour, farm to table menus in the valley, and plenty of dining spots make Hermanus a destination for food lovers.

For those who prefer the outdoors, trails go beyond Fernkloof. Rotary Way offers sweeping views over Walker Bay, while Vogelgat Private Nature Reserve gives hikers a tougher climb through fynbos.

Conservation plays a big role in Hermanus with communities working together to protect the natural surrounds – from the fynbos in the mountains to the marine life. Locals balance living needs with the environment, encouraging sustainable tourism and community involvement.

Estates have expanded, homes sit comfortably in the natural surroundings, while offering all the amenities of modern living. Once seen mainly as a retirement or holiday town, it's now a place where families live, work, and raise children. Hermanus has evolved into a lifestyle haven – and those who live and visit reap the benefits.

Elevated living

Lift SA's premium Home Lifts offer a seamless way to enhance lifestyle and property value.

In luxury homes, every detail matters. From architectural flow to finishes that reflect personal taste, today's homeowners are investing in spaces that offer both beauty and long-term practicality. One feature increasingly found in premium residences is the private Home Lift, not as a medical necessity, but as a lifestyle upgrade that brings comfort, elegance, and future readiness into the home. One that supports multigenerational living, enhances resale appeal, and ensures longevity.

This is where manufacturer Lifta SA has become a trusted name in South Africa's high-end residential market.

Lifta SA specialises exclusively in premium Home Lifts for private residences. With more than 500 installations across South Africa, the company has built a reputation for European quality, refined design, and expert local installation. From coastal villas to multi-storey city homes, Lifta Home Lifts have become a natural fit where convenience and design go hand in hand.

Unlike traditional elevators, Lifta Home Lifts are designed to work with the home rather than reshape it. They operate on slim support rails and do not require a lift shaft, machine room, or deep pit. This allows them to be installed in a range of spaces, including stair voids, corners, and open-plan living areas, while maintaining architectural integrity.

Lifta offers two main models. The Duo Home Lift is compact and elegant, ideal for standing passengers or a seated ride. The Trio Home Lift offers more internal space and can accommodate two people or a wheelchair, making it a strong option for homeowners who want to future-proof their residence without compromising on style.

Design is central to the Lifta offering. Each Home Lift can be customised with a choice of wrap finishes in contemporary colours, allowing it to blend into luxury interiors. Quiet operation, smooth travel, and intuitive controls ensure it enhances everyday living rather than drawing attention.

For high-end homeowners, another advantage is the speed and simplicity of installation. Once preparation work is complete, a Lifta Home Lift can be installed in just two days by experienced trained teams, making it attractive for both new builds and existing homes.

With proven experience and a clear understanding of premium homes, Lifta is redefining home mobility in South Africa.

LIGHTS, CAMERA, ACTION!

IT'S SPRING, AND NATURE IS THE STARRING ACT. EVERYTHING BURSTS INTO BLOOM, THE WEATHER IS JUST RIGHT, AND HERMANUS SETS THE PERFECT STAGE.

This is the season to lace up your hiking boots and head out, because the town offers a wealth of trails where you can immerse yourself in the scenery and soak up the best of the Cape Floral Kingdom.

Image: Yunus Alexander - unsplash

HERMANUS CLIFF PATH

The Hermanus Cliff Path is the town's signature walk. It runs from the New Harbour to Piet se Bos beyond Grotto Beach and can be done in short stretches or as a longer hike.

From August to November, Southern Right Whales gather in Walker Bay, often visible just metres from shore. Top viewing spots include Gearing's Point, Sievers Punt, Kwaaiwater, and Kraal Rock. Dolphins, seals, seabirds and dassies are also regular sightings.

Benches and viewpoints are set along the route, making it easy to pause and take in the scenery. The path is rich in plant life too – look out for the deep pink Cliff Lily (Gladiolus carmineus) and the rare Green Orchid (Bonatea speciosa).

FERNKLOOF

NATURE RESERVE

Fernkloof Nature Reserve has a trail network that stretches over 60km, but if you're looking for shorter day hikes here are some options:

Blue Route (2km):
 A gentle walk/hike that is family friendly and allows furbies on leash.
Green Route (3.5km):
 A little bit of a climb around Lemoenkop, but so worth the panoramic views.
Red Route (3.5km):
 A circular trail that leads to a seasonal waterfall.
Waterfall Trail (2.4km):
 Traversing through forest, this hike ends at a small waterfall tucked against the Kleinrivier Mountains.

These hikes are great all year round, but in spring the fynbos bursts into colour, with proteas, ericas, daisies, and vygies carpeting the slopes.

Adding to the stunning natural surrounds are wildlife such as dassies, baboons, klipspringers, mongooses, tortoises and chameleons.

THE HERMANUS

CAMINO

For those looking for a longer option, try a five day, 70km hike through vineyards, mountains, and coastline. By Milou Staub

I did the Hermanus Camino a couple of years ago (so the itinerary may have changed slightly to what it is today), and I still find myself bragging about it at my book club gatherings whenever the month's pick is even slightly about hiking or the outdoors. I brag about it mostly because "slackpacking" is, frankly, the best invention since the wheel. Someone else carries your bags. You just walk, eat, and occasionally fall into a wine tasting. Pretty genius concept.

Day one: cliff paths for days, which felt less like a warm up and more like the trail testing my endurance. Reward: a swim and lunch at Hamilton Russell, a tasting at Creation, and a free range chicken braai at Glen Oakes that pretty much undid every step of that day's hard work.

Day two was chilled. Golden canola fields, gentle foothills, the kind of walk where you can actually hold a conversation without coughing your lungs out.

Day three was something else altogether. The Haarkapper fynbos climb is, I'm fairly sure, designed by one of the guides who enjoys watching people suffer for a view. But let me tell you, once you're up there, you forgive them entirely.

Day four was a delight: a river cruise with one or two boerewors rolls in hand, an organic wine tasting, then a night at Wortelgat under milkwood trees that made me briefly consider becoming a songwriter.

The final day was a dream – over the dunes to Die Plaat, one of the longest beaches you'll ever stumble onto.

Would I do it again? In a heartbeat!

GRILLE SHACK AT PITSTOP LODGE

MORE THAN JUST A PITSTOP

The Grille Shack at PitStop Lodge is situated on the most beautiful coastal drive in the world - Clarence Drive, approximately 5km outside Gordon's Bay, just before the Steenbras River Bridge.

Inspired by the charm and character of a 1950s pump diner, The Grille Shack is our poster child, offering jaunty food with sass, and a distinctly lekker Afrikaanse twist. Whether you're a petrolhead, road-tripper, family, adventurer, hiker, cyclist, tourist, local or free spirit, there's a seat waiting for you - and, of course, well-behaved pets are always welcome too!

But there's more to discover at PitStop Lodge. Stay over in one of our funky, petrolhead-inspired cabins, designed for comfort, character and seriously cool vibes. Browse the carefully curated selection of quality local and artisan wines and spirits at the Refuel Station Liquor Boutique, or discover beautifully curated jewellery, unique gifts and special finds at the much-loved Ruby Rose Jewellery Boutique.

We are also incredibly proud to have once again been nominated for the KFM Best of the Cape Awards in the Best Pet-Friendly Restaurant category.

Whether you're stopping for a bite, taking the scenic route, planning a weekend escape or simply looking for a destination where the whole family - including your four-legged friends - are welcome, make PitStop Lodge your next stop.
